Diamond Rocks. A machine has been invented by Mr. Robert Hood, of Dayton, Ohio, which consists in the employment of a spiral lifter, in combination with a supplementary feeding screw, the latter acting on the drill or drill rod, and with an arm extending from said sleeve, in the cam slot, in such a manner that, by the action of the cam slot or arm, the tappit is held in contact with the thread of the feeder, until it arrives at the end of the stroke, when the same, by a curve in the cam slot, is thrown out of contact with the feed screw, and the drill is allowed to drop, and, while being thrown out of gear with the feed screw, it is turned, causing it to strike a different spot on each stroke. By this arrangement two or more drills can be operated by the same lifter and driving power.

General Fiske, in a speech at Brooklyn, a few weeks since, quoted the President as saying to him: "I wish the people of the North knew what I had to stand between. Daily I receive telegrams and letters from all parts of the South of dreadful import. If they could but see the difficulties of my position they would pity me and give me their prayers." This he said with tears in his eyes.

Ex-Governor Bell, of Texas, now in Washington city, has had an interview with President Johnson relating to political affairs in that State. He represents the people of Texas as more willing to adapt themselves to the new "situation" than are the people of any other state lately in rebellion. Few would have thought it.

A farmer going to get his grist ground at a mill, borrowed a bag of one of his neighbors. The poor man was knocked under the water wheel, and the bag with him; he was drowned. WEDNESDAY MORNING, D[illegible]

THE NEW RIVER NEIGHBORS.

The Mint, for Utah and Nevada.

From the indications of the times, the precious silver regions of eastern Nevada, known as Reese River and adjoining tracts of country to the north and south of it, are likely to become a prosperous and powerful ally, eventually, to the true interests of Utah. The idea of annexing to that scope of country a thick slice of the territory of Utah, is agitating able minds at present, both in the east and west. In addition to this, the probability is that the U. S. Branch Mint will be located at Austin, the now thriving town of that rich Silver State.

That an establishment at that point would prove publicly beneficial to the vast mining interests of its surroundings, Boise, Owyhee and Montana, as well as the rich Rush Valley and Pahranagat mines of Utah, and of northwestern Arizona, Austin is the great natural center of those gold and silver sections, in that vast scope of country. It certainly should so be viewed by the proper parties at the national seat of government. Carson and Virginia cities, on the far western verge of Nevada, are too closely situated to the Branch Mint in California, to allow another mint establishment at either of those points. That Austin is the place to put it, will be the disinterested conviction of every mining camp in these three territories, and, we trust, of the Secretary of the Interior, also.)

The mining population of Washoe is decreasing, as the production of their silver rapidly falls off or stagnates—which amounts to the same thing; while the rich regions of Reese River, western and south-western Utah are now being prospected and populated with such immense success as shall soon convince the nation that said scope of country is one of the richest in America. Miners, men of capital and enterprise, are bound to populate the gold and silver districts of Utah, Reese River and northern Arizona, in the coming years, to an extent unknown in the mining progress of the Pacific slope. Utah is interested in these matters, and her wishes will, we trust, be so respected by the Washington authorities. We would not, "just yet a while," want to bother Senators Nye and Stewart, or that young Congressman elect, Hon. D. R. Ashley, for a Mormon but we will be pleased to hear of their helping our next neighbors of Reese River, Egan Canon and the mining sections south, east and north of it. They will show their statesmanship by favoring the location of that public benefit where it will eventually accommodate the many, though it may presently not gratify the few.

[From the Stockton, Cal., Independent, Dec. 15]

The Mormons at their Old Tricks.

A. D. Richardson, the observant and eloquent correspondent of the New York Tribune, has recently been at Salt Lake City, taking notes upon the Mormons, which are printed in his own journal and in the Union Vedette. His notes can hardly be said to reveal anything new as to Mormon practices or policy. They give us the old story of vulgar, brutal and treasonable speeches from the pulpit by Brigham Young, Heber C. Kimball, the bishops, missionaries and long-haired understrappers of the hierarchy. These are all plentifully spiced with bravado and that sort of dark innuendo which would make the world believe the Saints possess great reserved military power, and that they are all ready and willing to go to war with the whole power of the United States, if challenged thereto, and if need be to "die in the last ditch." Brigham has just made the tour of his dominions and returns to his throne well satisfied with the loyalty and courage of his people—so well satisfied, indeed, that he flatly backs down from the half-way promises made in the early summer to Colfax and General Ashley that polygamy should be gradually abolished. Not only this, but he clinches his bad faith with foul epithets against the United States, and threats that if interfered with in his favorite woman-monopoly, the Saints will rebel by force of arms and all that sort of thing; and thereupon he goes to work drilling his militia.

Mr. Richardson, who has not thoroughly studied the natural history of the Mormon, appears to be alarmed at this sudden demonstration, and thinks that something ought speedily to be done. There is nothing alarming about it. It is only a repitition of an exceedingly cunning old Mormon trick, originated in the fertile brain of Brigham. In 1856, the Saints were in distressed circumstances for money, groceries, and nearly all the comforts of life which could not be produced from the soil. They wanted a market for their flour, hay, oats and potatoes. It struck the Prophet that if he could get up a little war of his own, or at least make a demonstration that would bring United States troops there, the desired market would be secured. He followed up this happy thought by stirring up the Indians, and threatening (in some cases passessing—the passing emigrants. That threat was fearfully executed, as witness the bleaching bones of the victims of the Mountain Meadows and other parts of Utah.—Vedette.] When the Government and the gentiles talked about fighting, Brigham blustered in his Bowery [illegible] drilling his invincible, lop eared militia; and at last, Buchanan, becoming frightened in 1857, dispatched Brigadier General A. S. Johnson, in command of an army of from two to three thousand United States [illegible] necessary, to chastise the traitorous and bellicose Saints. On Johnston's arrival they went out to meet him, professed the utmost friendship for the United States, and were as gentle as smoking dorses, as patriotic as could be wished. [illegible] arrival of Connor's command; and now, that they large army. An army of 5,000 men quartered in Utah would be worth three millions of hard dollars per year to the Saints, and of this amount Brigham, Heber and their onte bishops would secure the lion's share.

It is hoped the Government will not be foolish enough to send another army to Utah. That only encourages and fosters the pest. The best way to head off Brigham would be to subdivide his Territory. A large part of it, on the east, might very conveniently be pinned on to Colorado, Nevada might take off a considerable strip from the west; Idaho might cut down and swallow up Salt Lake City from the north, and Arizona complete the work of Saintly destruction on the south. And there would be an end of Utah and Brigham Young's hierarchy.

Compare the contrast between those early years and now. Before those [illegible] united, the Mormons were paupers, paying portions of the little they made, to the Church Tithing offices, and almost strangers to christian civilization. Even at the time that Col. Connor's command came here from California, the "natives" hereabouts would steal off to Camp Douglas to solicit cast off clothing, hats, boofees and almost anything—to cover their nearly nude exteriors. An old blouse donated would kindle gratitude in many a Mormon mind, who would offer to pay it back in produce at the prices of those times—which were next to nothing. Dregs of coffee scattered from the coffee pots at camp, and refuse tea leaves, redried for further distillation, would pass for condiments of luxury with those squalid "Saints," even in 1862. Contrast then and now, and note the difference—inaugurated entirely by the advent of these troops and of these Gentiles, both of whom have been so frequently anathematized by the ungrateful leaders of these poor people, priest-ridden into poverty and now made prosperous by the military and the enterprise of Gentile immigration. The true secret of this feigned hostility to the soldiers, by these "powers that be," is to make the "saints" believe that they are about to be persecuted, so that the great cormorant may get his "pound of flesh" (plenteous tithing) with willingness from his would-be, readily made rebellious subjects. The only reality for their (these leaders') repugnance to this new regime must be found in the fact that they fear the interference and association of the soldiers will tend to open the eyes of their dupes and consequently curtail their tithings.

There are troops enough in Utah now for all purposes.

From San Francisco, Financial.—The S. F. News Letter of the 16th gives the following financial synopsis of the week:

Gold Bars.—From 830 to 840. The receipts of Gold Dust during the last few days have been good.

Silver Bars.—From par to 1-2 premium for average grades.

Exchange on New York, 1 1-2a1 3 4 per cent. premium for Coin; Currency, 43 per cent. On London, Bankers, 48 1 2d.; Commercial, 49 1-2d. Paris, 5f sixty days.

Latest price of Gold at New York, December 14, 145.

Latest price of Sterling in New York, December 14, 109 1-2

Treasury Notes are selling at 68 1-2.

Price of money here, 1a1 1-2 per ct. per month. Demand active.

Boise Items.—Mining has almost subsided, the only exception being a few companies at work on the creeks. Prospecting on quartz ledges is still progressing. The shaft of the "Fourth of July" lode is now down seventy feet, displaying a ledge eight feet wide. The Crow & Hubbell mill at Centerville has been sold to the owners of the Buffalo, Stephens, Golden Reef, Climax and Banner ledges. The mill will commence crushing rock in a few days. Rock from the above named companies paid from $80 to $300 per ton last summer, with arastras. The Chickahominy and Gambrinus companies have a ten stamp mill in operation. Other companies will erect mills in the Spring.

Cornish English Gallantry.—Quite a lively fracas occured in front of the National Exchange about dark Saturday evening, says the Nevada (Cal.) Gazette. On the arrival of the Grass Valley stage, containing two or three lady passengers a number of Cornishmen made a rush for the stage, in order to secure seats for the return trip. Two or three had already got in, when Royce, who was driving, came up and told them to wait until the ladies had time get out; and also informed them that it would be half an hour before the stage would start back. Regardless of this request, another attempted to jump in, when Royce pulled him back. Upon this, the friends of the man made a break for Royce, when some outsiders took up for the latter, and a general muss followed. One of the Cornishmen was knocked against the liberty pole, and it is said had two teeth knocked out; another came out of the fracas with a bloody nose, and another still with a black eye; but we believe no one was seriously hurt.

Those are like certain other sects, that think the women are mere adjuncts—not equals to themselves. This "inferiority" and subjection of the softer sex, is a part of that twin relic of barbarism, alluded to, at present everywhere.

[Special [illegible]

New York, Dec. 23.

The world's dispatch says a quorum of the Committees of Ways and Means and Appropriations will remain in session during the recess of congress. Secretary McCulloch was at the latter House yesterday; his visit is entirely unusual.

The Herald's dispatch says, congress will be called upon for further appropriation for support of indigent Indians during the winter, and that [illegible] million of dollars will be necessary for the western tribes represented as being in a destitute condition. A letter to the Secretary of the Interior, from Gen. Sibley, says that a large number of Indians were assembled at Fort Rice and elsewhere on the Missouri River, who manifested the most friendly intentions, for they, whom [illegible] are quite willing to enter into the most liberal treaties. Yes, to abuse their plans and steal their annuity, so as to aid in out on slaughtering raids in the early spring.—Ed. Vidette.]

The Herald's special says, persons interested in patents who have been led to believe that it is intended to obtain through Congress very essential modifications in the patent laws, are authoritatively informed that no material change in such laws shall be asked.

The World's special says, the Department of State completed instructions to the Minister to Mexico. He will be dispatched at once to the head quarters of the Juarez government, to remain with the President of the Republic, and follow him wherever he may go. This making an active demonstration to Maximilian, a policy, which the government intends to persist in, has given offence to the French Minister.

The Republican issued an extra last evening, on Mexican affairs. Its information purports to come from London, and discloses that a secret understanding between Napoleon and Maximilian allows the former to withdraw the French troops from Mexico whenever Maximilian's payments should be two months in arrears.

New York, Dec. 23.

The Times special says an order will be issued by Gen. Grant in a day or two directing that disabled soldiers, capable of duty as watchmen of public buildings and other like services, shall have the preference in such employment over able bodied men.

The Idaho Weekly Statesman.—This large, fine looking journal from the north-west was received by last mail, and certainly is most creditable to the editorial and typographic talent of the "Gem of the Mountains." It is published by Messrs. James S. Reynolds and Brothers, at $10. a year, and $6. for six months. Take it, and keep posted on the doings of your neighbors of the north west.

The price of living is so high in Washington that, it is said, only lobbyists can afford to live there. There is, therefore, danger that the latter will "run" Congress. The only hope of the members will be in Mr. Thaddeus Stevens's peculiar political economy. His law to regulate the price of gold shows that he has a genius intrepid enough to undertake anything, even the fixing of the hotel rates at two dollars a day.

On Meagher's Bar, opposite the town of Nevada, says the Montana Post, have been discovered fossils which unmistakably prove that that part of the world was once inhabited by a race of human beings who stood from ten to twelve feet high; and by a species of quadrupeds at least twice the size of the Arctic elephant.

Two Stockton, Cal., sportsmen lately shot an owl, which they brought to town and exultingly claimed, to be the largest quail ever seen. At first each claimed the honor of having killed it; but now each is willing very magnanimously to give all the credit to the other! Some of those Californian chaps are shocking smart.

Pelissier's Dramatic Troupe, lately of Maguire's Opera House, Virginia City, Nev., has come to Austin to establish a minor theatre. The company consists of Maggie Brewer, Emma Miles, A. J. Talbott, Joe Mabbott, Billy Moss, John Allen, and Walter and little Flora Bray.

A writer in the last S. F. Bulletin, speaking of quartz mining in California, says:

"There is perhaps no branch of business in California meeting with a surer or better reward than quartz mining, not only in the vicinity of Grass Valley, but generally throughout the State."

A dispatch from San Francisco, on the 14th, speaking of Washoe "feet," remarks:

Stocks rallied spasmodically to-day, a few of the leading advancing. Heavy sums are being drawn from stocks and invested in inside real estate.

The annual gold yield of Oregon—the product of the mines on the Columbia and its tributaries—is estimated by the Bulletin [illegible] at $3,000,000, including the receipts from Montana, Kootenai, and some localities in British Columbia and Washington Territory.

According to Gen. Grant's recent observations, the people of the South are anxious to get back into their old relations with the Union. They have magnanimously consented to inhabit the same country with "Yankees."

The Grass Valley Union says that eight dollars freight a ton, from Sacramento to very moderate, costs [illegible] takes twenty hundred to make a ton!

The Montana [illegible] are making wonderful progress in Nevada State. The Circle are increasing [illegible] in numbers and extent.

Local and Miscellaneous.

But diamond to thy point, my pen,
When crime's dumb bells are round thee ring.

COLE & MUNTER have opened their new goods. See ad't.

MEN, like bullets, go farthest when they are smoothest.

Miss Emily Thorne and Dan Setchell are starring it.

A MERCHANT named Westfield was frozen to death at Omaha on the 13th inst.

It is said to be something consoling for every ill in this life. For instance, if a man is bald-headed his wife can't pull his hair.

THE comedy of "She Would and He Wouldn't" was played at the Mormon theater the other night. Quite an every-day occurrence with 'em—not at all sensational!

DANCE THIS EVENING.—Mr. Savage, of the new institution next to the City Hall, will hold a social ball at his gran' new ball this Wednesday night. A big time and a bully supper, all for an only V.

THAT NEW YEAR'S BALL—By the Battallion of 3d Infantry California Volunteers, at Douglas Hall last New Year's night, is progressing prosperously. A large number of tickets are already placed on the records.

SOCIETY IN BOISE BASIN.—The Idaho City World observes that the vicious looking cut-throats, who were formerly so plentiful in Boise, are now very scattce, the greater part having drifted on to Owyhee, where they have been hunted, hung, or run off to other places.

BIDS FOR FORAGE.—Bids for forage, to be furnished at Provo and Fort Ephraim, Utah, will be received up to 12 M., Thursday, Dec. 28th, by Capt. D. B. Stover, Quarter-Master, Camp Douglas. Bidders are requested to be present at the opening of bids. dec27—2t

HON. THOS. CORWIN, of Lebannon, Ohio, an old-time lawyer, politician and statesman, of the Buckeye State, died at Washington City on the 20th. He was formerly Governor of Ohio, and latterly Minister to Mexico. Few finer orators and readier wits than Tom Corwin could be found in the Great West.

GEN. CARLETON, commanding the District of New Mexico, has been ordered by the War Department to organize a powerful force against the Apache Indians, who infest the rich mining districts of Arizona and New Mexico, and who have never been brought into subjection.

THE "boys" of Co. C, 3d California Infantry, served up a splendid repast at their quarters Christmas day, consisting of all the substantials, with most of the "Christmas fixin's," which was highly creditable to the managers of the "affair," and elicited high encomiums from those who had the pleasure of participating.

SOME mischief-loving "cuss" last night, during the performance at the "Academy of Music," filled one of the stove pipes running therefrom with snow, causing quite a dense smoke inside, and creating a momentary excitement among the audience. If the "sly joker" is caught at his tricks, he should be made to "smoke" for it.

RATIFIED.—The Legislature of Oregon has ratified the Constitutional Amendment prohibiting Slavery, but with one dissenting voice in the Senate, and four in the House. This makes the twenty-eighth State which has ratified the amendment, and it is now the law of the land, even if all the Southern States reject it.

BOISE MARKETS.—By the Boise City Statesman we learn that some things sell far cheaper up there than they do here, while with other articles the market is much higher. Fresh butter is quoted, wholesale, at $1.25a$1.50; coal oil, scarce, a$6; flour, $18a22; salt, 20c; sugar, 33a40c; coffee, 55a60c; bacon, 60a65c, and scarce; [illegible] $1 25a$1 50; teas, $1 20a$1.40; whiskey, $6a$8, and supply supposed inexhaustible.

SINCE speaking in our last that Bennett, of the New York Herald, was, in religion, a Catholic, the point was disputed by some friends, but finally given up in our favor. To be more specific on this subject, Mr. James Gordon Bennet is descended from an old Scotch Roman Catholic family, and was educated for the priesthood. Horace Greely, by profession, is a Universalist, and Raymond, of the Times, a Presbyterian.

HERE'S how the Loquale of the Territorial Enterprise, Virginia, Nev., puffs (!) "distinguished arrivals":

PERSONAL.—Lance Nightingale, the State Controller, and Hosea Miller, his long whiskered woman-hating Deputy, arrived in town last evening from Carson. The former went to prayer meeting [illegible] to a private party. That [illegible] remained at home.

CAPT. Skelton, C. S., from Fort Bridger, Bennet as Commissary of Subsistence at Camp Douglas. We welcome the advent of this stouting soldier and his worthy wife, as an acquisition to the Gentile society of Salt Lake City.

HORSE-flesh fetches high figures these sleighing times. Equine roadsters whose style of [illegible] would remind one of those old Missouri hominy beaters, command a V an hour, and almost impossible to get for love or money. Some splendid sleighs and sleds, with fine fast stock to fly before them, can be had however, at Bil Jackson's livery stable, near the Mansion House.

ANOTHER Christmas gone! Another week of merriment half ended! All indicative of how fast time flies—how fleeting is enjoyment—how holidays are hardly here before they're hurled o'er the precipice of time to return never. But, this being as it may, it was a merry Christmas after all. Early did the scores of sleighs glide by, causing these wide streets to seem like Naples in the sunshine when the watery streets were plowed with gondoliered regattas. Everybody from the smallest boy with elfin team [illegible] to his sleigh of state, was racing it around, paying and receiving the compliments of the season. A regiment of little boys made raids on candy shops and grocers' stores, cheering like an earthquake until they made the proprietors "pungle over." And the female belles, assorted styles and sizes, how they did apparently enjoy excursions around town, their eyes the while tiring out in twinkling and in blinking to the music of the merry bells before them!

UTAH'S RICH RESOURCES.—No subject of such vital importance to our future welfare appears to have heretofore attracted so little attention and enlisted so little enterprise, among the mass of Mormondom, as that of gold and silver mining. Not for lack of plenty of paying leads, judging by the "blossom rock" and placer indications,—the symptoms of rich silver sulphurets and chlorides streaking through the ledges and cropping out in any quantity of sections which could most advantageously be worked. For instance some in the Stockton silver district, thirty odd miles from here, which have been tried and, [illegible] to be far ahead in richness and in readiness for working, to those of some more prominent parts of Washoe and Reese River. Silver ledges of fabulous extent and richness are reliably reported in more than this particular part of Utah Territory. In the southwest corner yonder, near the head waters of the Colorado, say those that have worked and prospected in that portion for the past six months, is one of the most desirable districts for gold and silver mining in the west. Take the Pahranagat Lake Silver District. Then there's the Cottonwood and Bingham canon mines, and many others, that will munificently repay the miner and the man of capital who may start this enterprise in Utah. We believe a good many mills and smelting furnaces, if established here next year, would prove the most profitable investment that capitalists could find in all the other portions of the mineral domain.

GAY GENTILE GATHERING.—Some sixty couple graced the floor of Independence Hall, on Christmas night, and had a glorious good time, tripping it on the "light fantastic toe," at

"the heavenly touch of instrumental sounds,
In full harmonic number joined."

At the hour of eight, a superb and sumptuous supper was served up by Mr Savage. This thing of telling about balls next day or so is so shockingly threadbare in its tone and diction, that, did space but justify, we would say something different to that stereotyped by [illegible] the lamps shone o'er fair [illegible] even at the risk of sacrificing taste to independent originality.

Suffice it to say, the dances were danced—to the music or to one another—until the station keeper east commenced to hitch up Phoebus' chariot for old Sol's daily drive across the course cerulean. The ladies in attendance were dressed in the acme of gentility and good taste. The reason we think so, is—now that the event is gone by—because we can't to save our life, call to mind how any one particularly was attired,—so much, to guarantee gentility and ignore conspicuous stunning.

The "lords" were well appearing also—on the average a gradual better than the day might warrant. Uniforms were in every set. Gloves, from cream to carbon color, pinched the digital extremes as generally as patent leathers did their pedal ends. In fine, the gents were finely fixed, and doubly so considering that the fair sex slightly so, "predominated."—one of whom would make an angel for a [illegible] if she wasn't fellowed fairly well already. Great eclat to the management for managing to sell so many tickets (in advance) the writer's with that number.

DIED:

At Camp Douglas, U. T., on the evening of Dec. 26th, of consumption, Mrs. [illegible] A. M. STILLMAN, (wife of Capt. JAMES W. STILLMAN,) in the 33d year of her age.

To My Shadow.

Shadow, just the reverse of men,
Constant and close to friends while fortune's bright—
You leave me in the dark, but come again
When I have seen the sun.

You've never stepped between me and the sun;
But ready still to back me I have found you
Where'er I walk my shadow with me glides,
That you should [illegible] in the dark is meet
Enough, there's nothing to remark:
Light calls you forth—yet, lying at my feet,
I'm keeping you forever in the dark!

When is a toper not a toper?—When he's three sheets in the wind.

The worst kind of oil to have anything to do with—soil.

What young lady won the battle of Salamis? The Miss Tocles; (Themistocles.)

When is a barber like something found in every carpenter shop?—When he is a shaving.

What is a camel like in the midst of a desert, without meat or drink? Like to be starved.

Why is a lazy tanner like a mile? An industrious one? Because he hardly earns his bread.

What dish may you always consider a safe one? Poached eggs.

Out of bond, and not liab'e to hear of duties on the slave—said when he became a man.

Why are undertakers like professional pugilists? Because they are always [illegible].

What musical sign does an oath from the lips of an effeminate fop put you in mind of? A demme quaver.

Why is a baby when cutting its ivories like a breakfast cup? Because it's a teething; (tea-thing.)

When may the sea be compared to a laundress washing summer trousers at a tub? When it makes clean breaches over a vessel.

Now come sets ling winter evenings. What a time for study and improvement. But this time can all be frittered away—spent at saloons and such like places. Much of our well-being in life is dependent upon how we improve our winter evenings.
